Carroll Announces Delays And Reductions Of Building Projects

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Declaring he is not adopting the easy or popular path, Gov. Julian Carroll has delayed or reduced several building projects around the state.

"I am aware that many of my early actions as governor have been construed by some as negative," he said. "It would be more popular, more pleasing to be able to announce new construction projects, new and bold programs than to do what I have been compelled to do."

But to place popularity above long range necessity is contemptible, said Carroll, who is planning to announce or file for a full term as governor in a week.

In his first state-of-the-commonwealth address Wednesday he gave the specific bad news:

A one-year delay in construction of three state office buildings in Frankfort.

A deferral in construction of two projects at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville.

A budget reduction for the new State Horse Park near Lexington.

Furthermore, Carroll said, he might have to cut highway expenditures or else transfer money from the general fund—which finances most state services—to the dwindling road fund.

He ruled out a third option:

Weather Forecast

Cloudy and cold today with widely scattered snow showers, high in the low to mid 30s. Continued cloudy and very cold tonight with lows in the mid teens. Decreasing cloudiness and cold Friday, high in the low 30s.

Outlook Saturday through Monday: Partly cloudy Saturday and chance of showers Sunday and Monday. Warming trend through the period. Highs in the 30s Saturday rising to the 40s and 50s by Monday. Lows in the teens Saturday rising to the 20s by Monday.

another gasoline tax increase. The address was carried on the Kentucky Educational Television Network plus more than 60 radio stations. It was made available to all commercial broadcast outlets.

Carroll said specifically he is delaying work on the offices for the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the state Department of Justice and the new library and archives building.

"These construction delays will allow me to apply $8 million to the design and construction of seven badly needed vocational education facilities across the state," he said. "In my view the need to fill the post-secondary educational gap in this commonwealth is much greater at this time than to build every one of the planned new state offices."

Early in his tenure Carroll froze an estimated $350 million in capital construction. He is releasing items from the freeze "as quickly as there is a certainty that the financing of each is secure," he said.

The governor also announced he is eliminating $1.5 million from the $31 million Human Resources Department building now being built.

The horse park reduction of $2 million will have a side benefit, the governor said, because "It will allow us to begin financing the unfunded construction of a $5 million interchange on Interstate 75 so that we can help travelers get to the new park."

One bright theme he held out in the generally gloomy assessment was the role of coal.

"The unprecedented boom in the coal fields as a consequence of the energy problem has boosted the declining economies in a fourth of our counties," he said.

Carroll said Kentucky already has been awarded two pilot coal research plants and has an excellent chance of obtaining another coal research facility with an investment value of more than $237 million.

In addition, he said, the state's diversified economy has kept its unemployment rate one percentage point below the national level.

Still, he said 30,000 more Kentuckians recently were added to the jobless rolls even though 8,900 new jobs were created in 1974.

Carroll estimated another 6,000 jobs, threatened by an industrial gas shortage, have been saved through a pool plan that minimizes the cutback.

The governor said the road fund outlook is grim, that $36 million already has been transferred from the general fund to offset any deficit.

"Now, the President's excessive additional tax on oil imports to this country will result in increased fuel prices for every consumer," he said. "That means gasoline consumption goes down and drags with it the amount of our state road fund receipts."

He said his administration has three choices:

—To reduce scheduled work on highway maintenance and construction.

—To defray the road fund reduction by committing additional money from the general fund.

—To increase the state gasoline tax, which Carroll said "is unacceptable to me as a solution because of the already

Health Board Asks Quarantine Of Ft. Campbell Due To Birds

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Christian County Board of Health has asked the Kentucky Bureau for Health Services to quarantine Ft. Campbell, as a court order holds up extermination of millions of blackbirds on the Army post.

Dr. Frank R. Pitzer, chairman of the board of health, says the request is based on a law that requires state health officials to quarantine any place necessary to stop the spread of contagious disease.

The blackbirds have been blamed for spreading a human lung disease, histoplasmosis, and diseases among farm animals.

Pitzer said stopping all traffic to and from the post would "force the government's hand."

Meanwhile, Paducah, Ky. Mayor Dolly McNutt says she hopes a federal court hearing set for Friday will clear the way for that city's own plans to exterminate blackbirds.

Mrs. McNutt says Paducah is considering sending a representative to the U. S. District Court hearing in Washington in an effort to gain approval for its plans to kill the birds with a detergent spray.

The court issued an order this week blocking the Army from exterminating blackbirds at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Mrs. McNutt said Wednesday the order apparently restrains Paducah from its separate plans to exterminate the birds.

The order stemmed from a complaint filed by the Society for Animals' Rights, Inc. and Citizens for Animals.

Mrs. McNutt said she would like to see the groups file an environmental impact statement on what will happen if Paducah doesn't rid itself of the birds.

The mayor said the birds pose the threat of spreading disease among both farm animals and humans.

19 Indictments Returned By Grand Jury In Circuit Court

Nineteen indictments were returned by the February Grand Jury, which reported to Circuit Judge James Lassiter in Calloway Circuit Court this morning.

Seventeen of the indictments were released by County Attorney Sid Easley; the other two indicted persons have not yet been apprehended by authorities. Those made public were:

Carl "Red" Duncan, housebreaking, in connection with a December 5 burglary at the Dwight Hargis home.

Stanley Dick, six counts of breaking into vending machines at various businesses in Murray on January 20.

Randy Kohr, uttering a forged prescription.

Tony Hughes, Barry Dunn, Michael Hicks, third degree burglary in a January 20 burglary at a building owned by Edward Williams.

James Manning, housebreaking, in a December 26 burglary at the home of Johnny Williams.

Jerry Maness, sale of mortgaged property. He is charged with selling on August 1 a citizens band radio which had a lien attached.

Johnny Miller and Tommy Miller, three counts of breaking into a public building and one count of willfully damaging a public building, in connection with December 4 burglaries at three county school buildings.

J. D. Fox, breaking into a public building, in connection with a December 4 burglary at Calloway County High School; Albert Thompson and David Perry, storehouse breaking, in a December 11 burglary at Susie's Cafe.

Dianne Chenelle, two counts of cold checking.

Gladys Crittendon, aiding and abetting uttering a worthless check.

Ginger Harpole, cold checking and aiding and abetting uttering a worthless check.

Johnny Pace, two counts of grand larceny, and one count of aiding and abetting grand larceny. The charges involve alleged thefts of three trucks in November.

Connie Ramsey, two counts grand larceny, two counts aiding and abetting grand larceny, and one count housebreaking.

Jerry Musgrove, grand larceny of an auto July 18, owned by Bill Swift.

Charles Richard Holland, robbery, in connection with a robbery November 13 at Furches Jewelry of $9,400 in jewelry.

Charles Cokolow, first degree assault, in connection with an incident February 3 involving injuries to Robert E. Young.

Five indictments returned by previous grand juries were dismissed in court this morning. Those included: Howard Anderson, public nuisance; James Paul Perkins, involuntary manslaughter; Reggie McNutt and Mike Adams, rape; and Jimmy Hargrove, assault and battery.

Following is the Grand Jury's report on government facilities within Calloway County:

COUNTY JAIL—"We visited the County Jail and talked with County Jailor, Huel Jones, concerning the adequacy of the Jail. It was very clean and well (See Grand Jury, Page 16)

House Committee Rejects Tax Break For Firms In Difficulty

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed special $1 billion tax break for financially troubled firms such as Chrysler Corp., Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and Pan American World Airways was rejected by the House Ways and Means Committee today.

The vote was 17 to 16 against incorporating the proposal into the multibillion-dollar emergency economic tax cut bill.

Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said he hoped the committee would complete its work during the day on an antirecession tax cut.

The panel has approved an $8.4 billion tax cut for low and middle-income taxpayers, rejected President Ford's plan for a rebate of 1974 taxes and indicated it would develop its own rebate plan.

Many Republicans joined the fight against the President's oil import tariff Wednesday as the Democratic-controlled Congress began to pick apart the President's economic-energy program.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, vowed to press his panel into action Friday on the House-passed tariff repeal and to report early next week to the full Senate.

The $1 billion special tax break would have come by letting firms which have had high profits in past years but are now suffering heavy losses apply the losses against earnings as far back as 1962. Tax experts said Chrysler, with an estimated $250 million; Lockheed, with an estimated $65 million, and Pan Am, with an estimated $40 million, would have been the principal beneficiaries.

A Ford administration tax spokesman said he opposed the carry-back provision "as essentially private relief at this time." Supporters argued it would put the help where it is needed the most and allow some firms to stay afloat.

The brisk schedules of House leaders for action on economic and energy legislation appeared likely to be set back somewhat by the traditional 10-day Lincoln Day recess the House begins at the close of business today. The Senate decided to forego the recess this year.

On the House vote to repeal Ford's oil tariff hike, 42 Republicans sided with 267 Democrats to block the three-step increase that partially went into effect last Saturday.

The 309-114 vote was 27 more than the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto which Ford has promised.

Before the vote, House GOP Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona appealed to his fellow-Republicans, saying this was the

Leaf Average Is $82.88 On Wednesday Here

A total of 89,700 pounds was sold on the Murray Tobacco Market Wednesday. The leaf brought $74,343.46 for an average price of $82.88 per hundredweight.

The sale brings the season totals to 2,329,060 pounds sold on the three Murray floors. The tobacco has sold for $2,238,533.97 for an average of $96.11.

The final sale of the year will be next Wednesday on both the Murray and Mayfield markets.

Eight Will Begin Work Monday In New Program

Eight persons will begin work Monday morning in a program that will in 11 months funnel $44,000 into the local economy.

Judge Robert O. Miller said this morning that the programs applied for under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Title VI, have been approved.

Charles McKenney will head the project, as contractor, and will head a crew of seven persons who will be involved in several projects in the city and county.

The projects include the construction of T-Hangers at the Murray-Calloway County Airport; renovation of the courthouse, city hall, library and health center; construction of sidewalks in various parts of the city and ramps on the sidewalks around the court square; curbs and gutters at several intersections; some bridge work in the county, and general work as yet unspecified on the city-county park.

The eight jobs will include one contractor, three carpenters, one plumber-electrician; one painter and two general laborers.

All but one of the eight positions have been filled. Over 160 applications were received for the eight positions.

He said that newly elected members had booked speaking engagements and other events in their districts.

Firemen Answer Two Calls Here

Murray firefighters were called to two fires Wednesday according to department reports.

At 10:35, firemen, responded to a call at 15th and Main Streets to a fire in a car owned by Shirley Brandon. The blaze was extinguished with CO2.

At 10:45 a.m., a call was answered to the home of Willie Perry, where firemen extinguished a grease fire.

The misty rain that has been falling intermittently on Calloway County since Wednesday afternoon changed quickly to snow this morning as the temperature dipped into the mid-20s. Little accumulation has been forecast by the weatherman, however motorists are cautioned to be on the lookout for hazardous road conditions.

Major Events Planned For Black History Week At MSU

By Steve W. Givens
Six major events are planned on the Murray State University campus as part of the nationwide observance of Black History Week Feb. 10-14.

Highlights of the activities to be presented by the Minority Awareness Committee of the Student Government Association include a presentation by the editor of the Louisville Defender, an award-winning black newspaper, a special serving of "soul food" in Winslow Cafeteria, and a showing of black-oriented films which emphasize the role of blacks in American society.

Frank Stanley, Jr., editor of the Defender, will speak at 7 p.m. in the Mason Hall Nursing Building auditorium Wednesday, Feb. 12. The outspoken newspaperman's topic will be the "Black Agenda for 1975." Stanley became editor of the Defender upon the death of his father, who established the paper and led its fight for the rights of all minority groups on the local, state, and national levels.

Stanley graduated at the top of his class at Boston University with a journalism major and has been associated for eight years with various urban leagues across the nation.

The special serving of "soul food" will be Thursday, Feb. 13, from 4:30 until 6 p.m. in Winslow Cafeteria, with all students holding meal tickets admitted free. A $1.75 fee will be charged for all others who wish to dine.

At 7 p.m. on Thursday, the Amazing Tones of Joy, a 38-member group from Bowling Green, will sponsor a gospel-spiritual concert at the University School auditorium. The group has made several television appearances and has presented similar performances in Atlanta, Ga., and Columbus, Ohio.

Free movies will be shown in the University School auditorium Friday, Feb. 14, beginning at 6 p.m. The featured film will be "Soul Soldier," which depicts the action of the famed 10th Cavalry of the United States Army during the Civil War. Rafer Johnson stars in the production that features the deeds of the all-black fighting unit.

Two other films, "The Man" and "The Black Woman" are also tentatively scheduled for the evening.

The final event of the special week will be an open dance to be held Saturday, Feb. 15, from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. in the ballroom of the Waterfield Student Union Building Ballroom. A charge of $1 per person will be collected at the door. Music will be provided by the Soulphonics, the same band which performed at the 1974 Homecoming Dance on the campus last fall.

An exhibit of paintings by black artists will be on display during the week in the lobby of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center.

George King, a Louisville senior who is chairman of the Minority Awareness Committee, invited "all interested persons to take advantage of the week's presentation, whether they are university students or not, as the programs were designed to appeal to a wide age group."

Ray T. Broach Named As Honorary Member Of Calloway FBLA Chapter

Ray T. Broach was named as an honorary member of the Calloway County High School Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America for the year 1974-75 at the January meeting held at the school with Russell Hopkins, chapter president, presiding.

Mr. Broach was also the guest speaker at the meeting and had as his subject, "A Good Student And A Successful Person." He is a graduate of Kirksey High School and Murray State University and is presently employed with the Kentucky Farm Bureau as an insurance agent. He has been active in church, school, and civic groups in Murray and Calloway County for many years, and the FBLA Chapter elected him an honorary member in recognition for his dedications and contributions to the youth in this area.

The honored man, his wife, Martha, and children, Terry and Gale, students at Murray State University, and Kathie, student at Calloway County High School, reside on Murray Route One.

At the January meeting the chapter members discussed plans for possible ways of making money for state and national fund-raising projects. The club members were encouraged to participate in the candy sales, one of their money making projects.

Clerk-Stenographer Class Graduates of the Mayfield Vocational School are shown at the annual graduation banquet held at the Grecian Steak House.

Clerk-Stenographer Class Has Graduation Banquet

Members of the Clerk-Stenographer class of the Mayfield Vocational School held their annual graduation banquet Thursday evening at the Grecian Steak House. The course which began June 10, 1974, provides 1320 hours of instruction in typing, shorthand, accounting, and related subjects if taken in its entirety; however, 80 percent of this graduating class are already employed by local employers.

Following the dinner a brief program was presented. The class history and prophecy were read by Debra Robb and Linda Lassiter. These documents were included in a class annual which was later presented to each member of the class.

Walter C. Mathis, coordinator of the vocational school, presented completion certificates to the following students: Sandra Cope, Janice Crutchfield, Deborah Jones, Candice Cunningham, Frances Murphey, Joy Newsome, Linda Lassiter, Susan House, Rhonda Phelps, Joyce Cash, JoAnn Schroeder, Dolores Hatch, Debra Robb, Donna West, and Denise Toon.

At the conclusion of the program a gift of long-stemmed American Beauty roses was presented to Mrs. Geneva Ellington, instructor of the class.

Guests at the banquet were Mrs. Walter C. Mathis and Joel Ellington.

Dear Abby

She's sweet sixteen and never has missed

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been invited to a wedding. My husband is unable to attend, so I am taking my 16-year-old cousin. She does not know the bride. At the last four weddings this cousin attended, she caught the bride's bouquet. Maybe I should tell you that she is a very large and athletic girl who is fast on her feet. I feel that because she is only 16, and she has already caught four bouquets, she should not make an all-out effort to catch this one. Don't you think she should give the bride's friends and relatives a chance to catch the bouquet?

NO BOUQUETS FOR NORA

DEAR NO BOUQUETS: If you want to risk telling a "large, athletic girl who's fast on her feet" what to do, go ahead.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's driving. Whenever another motorist breaks one of the highway courtesy rules and cuts in front of my husband, or passes him when another car is coming in the opposite direction, my husband has to get back at him. He'll pull up real close to him, or he'll immediately pass him to let him know that he is not going to let him get away with anything. Sometimes he doesn't like the way a truck driver is driving, so he'll start playing games with him. I get scared half to death and beg him not to take such foolish chances, but he insists that he's going to "teach them a lesson." We've had a few minor scrapes and several close calls, but nothing really serious yet. He argues that he is a safe driver, but to me, that's not safe. What's the matter with this 33-year-old baby? How can I make him realize that that kind of driving is not safe?

WORRIED IN OREGON

DEAR WORRIED: Part of my definition for maturity is... "the ability to bear an injustice without wanting to get even." Your husband isn't mature. Just keep on nagging him to let the other guy have the road—unless he's trying to beat him to the cemetery, and take you with him.

DEAR ABBY: A reader whose job it was to deliver newspapers complained because he couldn't read the house numbers in the dark of the early morning. As a member of the Great Falls, Va. Volunteer Fire Department, I share the concern over the lack of house numbers, but it's not to make deliveries. Our department must not only make fire calls; we also run ambulances to homes and highway accidents. Probably less than one third of the homes in our area have numbers on their mail boxes. Practically none have numbers on their houses. When someone is acutely ill or seriously injured, the time wasted looking for the right house number can make the difference between life and death. Abby, will you please urge people to put their street numbers in visible places so all emergency, police, fire and ambulance calls can be answered as promptly as possible?

C.E. KENNEMER, D.D.S.

DEAR DR.K.: Why not take it up with your city council and make it mandatory? The squeaking wheel gets the grease. Open wider, Doctor.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

Woodfin Hutson, Sr., Honored With Party On 93rd Birthday

Woodfin Hutson, Sr., observed his 93rd birthday on February 4. A delightful party, Woodfin Hutson, Sr., a combination birthday and Valentine party, was held at the Purveyor Nursing Home on Saturday afternoon with Mr. Hutson's son, Dr. Woodfin Hutson, Jr., and Mrs. Hutson of Murray as hosts.

The lobby was filled with patients and, at one time, they were having such a good time that two of them tried dancing, much to the delight of the other guests. A lovely cake reading "Happy Birthday 93" was cut and served with fruit punch with the Valentine motif being carried out in the plates, cups, and napkins, all being decorated with beautiful red hearts.

Mr. Hutson received several nice gifts and the group sang "Happy Birthday" to him. For the patients unable to come to the lobby, refreshments were taken to their rooms.

Carolyn Smith Honored With Household Shower

Miss Carolyn Smith, bride-elect of Dan Robertson, was honored with a household shower on Monday, January 27, at seven p. m. at the Community Room of the Federal Savings and Loan.

The hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Charity Garland, Mrs. Delores Robertson, Mrs. Debbie Darnell, and Mrs. Shirley Smith.

For the event the honoree was attired in a brown pant suit and was presented a corsage of daisies and baby's breath.

In charge of the games were Mrs. Cindy Smith and Mrs. Sandra Barnett. Winning the prizes were Mrs. JoAnn Jackson, Mrs. Sheri Mohler, Miss Egela Hatayris, and Miss Denise Morton who presented them to the bride-to-be.

Helping the bride-elect to open her many lovely gifts were Miss Tina Boyd and Miss Denise Morton. Miss Smith was also presented a decoupage plaque of her engagement announcement given by Mrs. Paula Morton.

The beautifully appointed refreshment table was decorated in the color scheme of white and yellow with the centerpiece being of daisies and baby's breath with silver candle holders with yellow candles flanking the arrangement. The table was covered with a yellow satin cloth under a white net cover and flowers of the color scheme were at each corner of the table.

The cake was decorated with daisies which was served along with punch, nuts, and mints. Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Debbie Darnell and Mrs. Karen Beam.

Approximately seventy-two persons were present or sent gifts.

Norita Cassidy Wins Honor Family Leader, Tomorrow

Norita A. Cassidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cassidy, Jr., of Murray Route Three, has been named Calloway County High School 1974-75 Family Leader of Tomorrow.

Miss Cassidy won the honor by competing with other seniors in the written knowledge and attitude examination given on December 3. She will be eligible for state and national honors including scholarship awards. The Calloway senior is currently serving as state historian of Future Homemakers of America, president of Calloway County

WRYE BOY

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wrye, 1213 Melrose, Murray, are the parents of a baby boy, Jody Scott, weighing eight pounds nine ounces, born on Saturday, January 11, at 3:16 a. m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

History Of Churches Is Heard At Alpha Meeting

The Alpha Department of the Murray Woman's Club held its regular luncheon meeting on Saturday, January 25, at the club house with Mrs. Henry McKenzie, chairman, presiding.

A program on the history of churches in Murray and Calloway County was presented by several members of the department. In the absence of Mrs. J. I. Hosick, Mrs. A. C. Lafollette served as chairman for the presentation.

Brief sketches of the beginnings of the following churches were given: Church of Christ, by Mrs. Wayne Williams; Baptist Church, by Mrs. O. C. Wells; Christian Church, by Mrs. Jean Bordeaux; Presbyterian Church, by Mrs. Henry McKenzie; Methodist, by Mrs. Max Hurt.

Mrs. Lafollette asked if other churches were represented in the department, and Mrs. June Smith spoke briefly on the Murray Episcopal Church.

Mrs. McKenzie expressed the Alpha's loss in the death of a beloved member, Miss Capple Beale and extended sympathy to Mrs. R. A. Johnston for the loss of her husband. Books will be presented to the public library in memory of these two persons.

Hostesses for the meeting were: Mrs. J. D. Rayburn, Mrs. Leland Owen, Dr. Halene Visher, Mrs. Mary Belle Overby and Mrs. Edwin Strohecker.

Remove Stains
Stains on table linens and clothing should be removed as soon as possible to prevent permanent marks.

Calloway FHA Holds Meet

The Calloway County High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held its regular meeting on Tuesday, January 22, from 8:30 to nine a. m. in the school cafeteria.

Nominations for the chapter beau were as follows: Joe Bill Orr, Ted McCuiston, Jerry White, Mark Adams, and Tommy Futrell.

Money for the scholarship fund was taken up by Mary Beth Hays, Janet Murdock, Patsy Burken, Renee Thompson, and Pam Todd.

Special entertainment was presented by Teresa Moody.

Relaxers were led by Debbie Eldridge and Pam Todd. Refreshments of cookies were served.

Chapter sponsors are Miss Lucy Forrest and Mrs. Bess Kerlick, and the student teacher is Mrs. Peggy Wright.

Mrs. Livesay & Miss Nance Attend National Convention Of United Daughters Of The Confederacy

Two members of Murray's J. N. Williams Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy attended the organization's national convention held at Richmond, Va.

Miss Maude Forrest Nance, president of both the Kentucky Division and of J. N. Williams Chapter, and Mrs. John J. Livesay, second vice-president of the Division and secretary of the local chapter, brought back to the state seven awards as well as reports of the work of the organization.

Kentucky's awards were in the following fields: Best report on Southern Literature, award and cash prize; best and neatest publicity, award and cash prize; registering most new members, two awards and cash prize; most transfers from Children's organization to Adult UDC, award; division purchasing most UDC pins, two awards.

Miss Nance praised Mrs. Leonard Vaughn, second vice-president of the Murray Chapter and state chairman of Southern Literature, for her diligence in collecting and coordinating the state-wide reports which led to the winning of the national prize.

The state president, Miss Nance, expressed her gratitude and appreciation for the splendid cooperation of both the Murray and state-wide newspapers, radio, and television stations for their help in winning the national publicity prize.

"When you consider that our Kentucky Division, which is by no means the largest one," said Miss Nance, "was competing with the whole nation, as well as such southern states as Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, and Virginia, our winning seems a miracle, and we thank you all."

Mrs. Livesay gave highlights of the national convention including reports of the many breakfasts, luncheons, teas, dinners, receptions, and processions. On the last evening in Richmond they attended a reception given by the Jefferson Hotel where the convention was held. Many persons from Richmond and

Washington, D. C., were present. They also made many tours including Williamsburg, Berkeley Plantation, Westover Church, etc.

The two local women said they enjoyed meeting and becoming acquainted with members from other states and never realized the size and scope of the UDC organization. Members were from California, Texas, Wyoming, Oregon, New York, Ohio, Colorado, and many other states.

Kentucky Needs A Title Law...

We hate to be in last place in anything but in the case of an automobile title law for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, we had much rather be the last state to adopt such legislation than be entered on the record book as "no-show," which is the case at present.

The two groups which have traditionally provided the most resistance to such legislation — county court clerks and auto dealers — have given their qualified support to auto title legislation.

At present the only proof of automobile ownership in Kentucky is the annually purchased registration certificate, which the motorist receives along with his license plates. The registration certificate is supposed to be kept with the vehicle at all times so if the car is stolen, the proof of ownership goes with it.

If a title law is enacted, the title which could be kept safely at home or in a safe-deposit box would provide additional proof of ownership.

It has been charged that because Kentucky has no title law, the state has become a "dumping ground" for stolen automobiles from all parts of the nation. Used car dealers in our community, who process thousands of cars annually, could more easily be protected from unknowingly receiving stolen cars if a title law were enacted and enforced.

Both the clerks and the auto dealers have objected to the idea of a centralized registry of titles. The clerks want to retain the collection of the title fee at the local level rather than in Frankfort and both the clerks and the dealers maintain that the delay in a centralized registry of titles would result in up to a 90-day delay in obtaining a title.

But State Police say that the present information about vehicle registration numbers, sent to Frankfort each year as part of the annual license plate form, contains a high percentage of errors which makes the tracing of stolen vehicles quite difficult. The forms are retyped each year by clerks at the county level and with hundreds of clerks in offices in the 120 counties of the Commonwealth, the human factor creeps in and errors are multiplied.

It seems that the lines of thought of the clerks, auto dealers and State Police have merit and we can envision the melding the ideas into a mutually acceptable and workable solution.

At present, drivers licenses are issued locally with central registration in Frankfort and it appears to us, through careful attention to the administrative side of a new title law, it would be no problem to issue the title locally with central registration in the capital.

A title law will not guarantee that fewer cars will be stolen in the state but it will make it more difficult for them to be disposed of after they are stolen.

It is our hope that the problems associated with a central title law can be worked out by the special legislative subcommittee now investigating the measure and that the 1976 General Assembly follows suit with quick action.

... And A Change In Usage Tax Laws

Kentucky motorists and auto dealers have a pet peeve concerning new car sales in the state: the statute which requires the consumer to pay usage tax (commonly, but incorrectly, called sales tax) on the full sticker price on any new car purchased in the state.

Many buyers are shocked, to say the least, to learn that, for example, when they purchase a new car with a sticker price of $5,000 and the dealer allows them $3,000 for the old car they are trading-in, they must pay five per cent usage tax on the $5,000 sticker price rather than the $2,000 actual cash difference.

This law is inequitable and should be changed. It can also be described in many cases as legalized double taxation. Say, for instance, the buyer in the preceding example had three years earlier purchased the car he was trading-in for $5,000 cash and paid the five per cent tax on $5,000 at that time.

In essence, by the time the buyer pays tax on his new car, he will have paid taxes on $10,000 even though he has only spent $7,000 ($5,000 for the original car plus the $2,000 difference on the new car).

The statute on used car sales in Kentucky is somewhat different and, we feel, more equitable and realistic. The used car buyer is taxed on the cash difference between the price listed in an auto reference manual and what the seller allows in trade. This thinking should also be applied to the new car purchaser.

It does not seem morally right to base the usage tax on the sticker price of a new car. This law should be changed by the next session of the Kentucky legislature.

Consumer Comment

The Notary Public

By Ed W. Hancock

Attorney General of Kentucky

If your friend tells you he had something notarized, has he seen a dry cleaner, a doctor or a member of the clergy? The answer is, "None of the above." Actually, he has been to see a notary public, a person certified by the state to verify that a person has appeared, furnished proof of his or her identity and signed a document or taken oath.

The notary simply serves as a kind of "witness" who attests to someone's identity. A notarized statement does not attest to any facts. When a notary signs a document, it does not mean that the facts are necessarily true. And, in the same respect, a notarized statement is not necessarily a true statement; it simply is a witnessed statement. For example, if Wanda Weightloss makes a notarized statement that she lost 100 pounds in two days, the notarization only means that Wanda appeared before a notary, showed her identification and made the statement. The notarization does not prove that she lost weight quickly, but just signifies that she did, in fact, say she lost weight.

Don't be fooled when an ad claims a notarized guarantee. A notarized guarantee, like any guarantee, should be put in writing and should be specific as to exactly what is guaranteed, by whom and for how long. And remember, a guarantee is only as good as the person or firm making the guarantee.

Consumers themselves may be asked to have certain documents notarized, or "witnessed." If you have trouble finding a notary public, check with your county clerk.

If you have a consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection. Call us toll-free from anywhere in Kentucky on the consumer hotline: 1-800-327-2960. Or write to Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, the Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Comments From Others

SISSETON, S.D., COURIER: "(This) Christmas...the United States Court of Appeals has ruled the Nativity scene must be dropped from the Pageant of Peace because of excessive government entanglement with religion. That's pretty strange. I've often wondered how a government can claim to be totally divorced from any association with religion — and then call a national holiday to celebrate the birthday of Christ...or set a Thursday in November as a national holiday to give thanks to God."

Ronald Churchill Loves Life, And Lives It To The Fullest

By M. C. Garrott

I enjoy Ronald Churchill. He is one of my favorite people. I never tire of listening to him tell about the "old days" and his experiences as a funeral director, some of which we could never print. Ronald loves life and he lives it to the fullest. I just hope and pray that I can be as active and as full of life and the world around me as he is when I reach his age.

He and "Miss Rebecca" are avid sports fans. They follow Murray High and Murray State athletic teams all over the country, win or lose. You never know when they'll come walking into some gym or stadium way yonder from Murray to cheer for one of our teams.

The other day at the Rotary Club Ronald got to telling some of his stories. These dealt with some of the early day "socials" he and his Training Union bunch at the First Baptist Church used to hold from time to time. His favorite prankster was a fellow by the name of Van Barnett, a former appliance dealer in Murray and who now lives in California.

On one occasion, a big group of them were gathered at Hunter Love's home for one of their regular covered-dish socials. They had enjoyed themselves and had finished their pot-luck supper when Van Barnett and Ronald were "elected" to wash the dishes. This was a little before the day of the electric dish washers as we know them today.

While up to their elbows in super suds, Van Barnett happened to notice the Loves' new clothes washing machine. Hunter was real proud of it. Not everyone had one in these days. They were quite a status symbol, too, at the time. Barnett came up with an idea. He thought he would have a little fun with Hunter, who was in the living room with Mrs. Love and their other guests.

Going to the door, he called, "Hey, Hunter! Come in here for a minute, willya!" Then he rushed over to the washing machine and started fiddling with all the knobs and dials as if he was trying to turn it on.

He was doing this when Hunter came into the kitchen, and he again called, "Hunter, I've got this thing full of dishes! Now, how in the heck do you turn it on!"

"Hunter got as pale as a ghost," Ronald recalls with a laugh. "He literally leaped across the kitchen and jerked Van Barnett away from the washer!"

"Don't touch a thing!" he yelled. "That's not a dish washer! It washes clothes! It was a long time before we let Hunter forget that little trick of Van's," he said.

Barnett also was the instigator of another little prank during one of the group's picnic outings. This time the scene was the city park over on 7th and Chestnut Streets. The "victim" this time was Charlie Bondurant, a neighbor of ours over in the Circumarea area and a retired extension agent. Now he's a prominent real estate man hereabouts.

The group was gathered at the park for the picnic when Charlie showed up in an old car. Since his brakes were not the best in the world, he parked the car with the front bumper against a tree. Barnett noticed this and decided he would have a little fun — this time with Charlie.

While Charlie was pitching horseshoes or eating fried chicken, no one ever knew exactly when, Barnett took a piece of chain from his appliance repair truck and chained Charlie's car to the tree. Then he whispered what he had done to Ronald and all the other fellows there.

When it came time to leave, everybody piled into their cars and began to drive away — that is, everybody except Charlie and Mrs. Bondurant. "I can see it now," Ronald recalls. "He was sitting there racing his motor, spinning his wheels and throwing gravel all over the place, but he wasn't going any place."

"Then he jumped out and started flagging us down before we could get away. 'Somebody will have to take us home!' he yelled. 'I can't move! I'm afraid I've stripped her gears!' It was a laughing Barnett who came back to remove the chain, but Charlie, at the time, didn't think it was very funny," Ronald said.

On still another occasion, but an earlier one, Barnett was a student at Murray State. He was in a biology class, and on this particular day the students were killing and dissecting small snakes. Barnett had one, too, but for some reason, he had not gotten around to killing his before the bell rang ending the class.

Having only a few minutes between classes and with his next class in another building, rather than take the time to put the snake away, Barnett simply tucked it into his shirt and went to his next class.

There he took his usual seat which happened to be right in front of the teacher. Things were going along in great shape and they were well into the class when suddenly the teacher froze in her tracks.

"She was staring at Van and her eyes were the size of saucers," Ronald recalls. "She couldn't say a word. She was petrified but managed a little squeak as she backed against the blackboard pointing at Van." Ronald said. "That snake had crawled part of the way out of Van's shirt and was licking its tongue out at her. It almost broke up the class — and it did as far as Van was concerned. She not only made him get the snake out of there, but moved him to a seat in the back of the room."

Ronald also enjoys telling about the lady who greeted him one day on the street by saying, "Hello, there, Mr. Churchill! You know, every time I see you I think of somebody dead."

Another came up to him once and said, "You don't remember me do you?" "Well, truthfully, no," Ronald replied. "I recognize the face, but I can't remember the name. You see, I meet a lot of people around the funeral home, but I'm sorry. I just can't seem to place you."

"Well, you ought to!" the lady snapped. "You undertook my husband."

Isn't It The Truth

by Carl Riblet Jr.

A human being can choke over many different things — a piece of meat, a bad joke, a surge of grief and, it is said, on too much money. But he chokes the worst over government; when he discovers he can't take any more of it.

Let's Stay Well

Tooth Decay Worse Without Fluoridation Of Drinking Water

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Whenever possible, it is better to prevent than to experience a disease. This fact applies to the most common of all diseases — tooth decay.

The fluoridation of the community water supply offers an effective, practical, and relatively inexpensive method of prevention of dental caries.

The greatest benefit comes to children, in whom about two-thirds show a reduction in tooth decay. Adults also benefit moderately but to a lesser extent than youngsters. In both age groups, the benefit lasts for a lifetime.

While fluorides are toxic in larger doses, research and experience over a third of a century show that a concentration of 1.0 to 1.5 parts of fluorides per million in public drinking water is safe and effective.

In spite of these facts, fluoridation of public water supplies is available to less than half of the population of the nation. As Maj. Gen. Edwin Smith, Jr., Assistant Surgeon General for Dental Services of the United States Army, pointed out recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association, "Part of the answer seems to lie in the fact that implementation of fluoridation has been dependent on political action and has had to be approved by referendum, by elected officials, or some combination of these. As a result, fluoridation may well be the only public health measure that has had to wait for the vote of the citizen."

Admitting opposition from a vocal minority, General Smith observes that the opponents focus their objections on fluorides and ignore other chemicals, often in much larger amounts, which are added to make drinking water more acceptable, including chlorine, nitrates, and sulfates.

The delay in the prevention of dental caries is costly. General Smith estimates that the amount of dentistry required today to care for tooth decay that might have been prevented by fluoridation of drinking water is about $1.5 billion per year. He calls for action by the health professionals and the public.

Q. Mrs. E.R. wants to know if it is generally true that rapid eating encourages the intake of more calories than slower eating.

A. It is generally true that the slow eater will consume fewer calories. Eating slowly encourages better chewing and easier digestion — also enjoyment of mealtime as well as the meal.

Q. Mrs. H.W. asks if it is true that vaginal creams can help the thinning of the vaginal lining.

A. Yes. Vaginal creams that contain female hormones can benefit the thinning of the vaginal lining when these changes are due to lack of the hormone. I advise that you see your physician for a diagnosis of your need and not attempt self-medication of this sort without a professional opinion.

Johnny Miller Thinking About Run-Away In Bob Hope Tourney

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Miller's thinking about another runaway. He's not just thinking about another victory. He's thinking about running away with it again.

"If I lead every day, it will seem like an eternity," he said. "If I lead every day, I'm going to be awfully tired," he said.

The phenomenal young man made the comments Wednesday after a fast-finishing, eight under par 64, giving him a two stroke lead in the first round of the $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"That's good," he said after his opening effort in this unique five-day tournament, the only 90-hole event on the pro tour.

"I've got them thinking about me now. The rest of 'em are in the position where they've got to catch me, and that's good. I'm really in good shape."

And then he took it from a different angle. He's two strokes in front with 72 holes to go, the length of a regular event.

"That means they have to spot me two or three shots," he said. "That's what it would be like starting a regular tournament. And not too many guys can do that, spot me two or three shots."

Miller, who scored those sensational record-setting runaway victories the first two tournaments of the year, opened up a two-shot lead over Tom Jenkins, a third-year man on the tour who has yet to win.

Jenkins had a 66 in the bright, warm sunshine.

Arnold Palmer, a five-time winner of this tournament and a sentimental favorite to do it

Replacement

MIAMI (AP) — Don Doll, defensive coordinator and defensive secondary coach for the Baltimore Colts last year, was named Wednesday to replace Vince Costello as linebacker coach of the Miami Dolphins.

Costello resigned last week to become a defensive aide with the Kansas City Chiefs of the National Football League.

Doll, 48, spent three years as defensive secondary coach at Green Bay before switching to Baltimore. He previously spent five years with the Washington Redskins and from 1959 to 1962 was a backfield coach at Notre Dame.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL — KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Freshman basketball star Bernard Khig was reinstated by the University of Tennessee after having been suspended from the team for an alleged recruiting violation.

again, headed the group at 68, four strokes back.

"Johnny is playing some unbelievably fine golf," commented Palmer, who finished third in the Hawaiian Open just a couple of days ago.

Also at 68 were former U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, veteran Doug Sanders, Miller Barber, Buddy Allin, Jerry Heard, Australian Bruce Crampton, Mack McLendon and Allan Tapie.

Miller, Jenkins, Palmer, Venturi, Sanders, Barber and Tapie all played at Indian Wells, probably the easiest of the four desert courses that are being used for the first four days of the tournament. Allin and Crampton were at Tamarisk, McLendon and Heard at Bermuda Dunes and Canadian George Knudsen's 69 represented the best score at La Quinta.

Defending champion Hubert Green had a 73 at Indian Wells. Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Gary Player are not competing.

Aeros Edge Toros For Fourth Consecutive Win

By The Associated Press
The Houston Aeros have won four consecutive World Hockey Association contests and no one is more happy about the last victory than Frank Hughes.

Hughes broke an eight-game scoring drought Wednesday night by scoring a third-period goal as the Aeros whipped the Toronto Toros 5-2.

Until his goal at 2:35 of the period, Hughes hadn't scored since Jan. 18 against the San Diego Mariners.

"That's the longest slump I think I've had," the left wing said. "It wouldn't have been so bad if I hadn't been getting the chances, but I have been getting them. I guess maybe I started too fast this season."

By MIKE BRANDON

It's been just a little over two months ago since Murray High won the Class A State Football Championship.

So, in the meantime, Coach John Hina sits back with his feet propped up on his desk and doesn't worry about next season because it doesn't begin until September. Right?

Sure, and W. C. Fields stayed sober, loved kids and ran a house for dogs without homes.

It's not all peaches and cream, though some people might think so. Of course on cold afternoons, John Hina's mind does probably wonder back to that chilly, late November day in Richmond when the Tigers won the state crown.

But as cruel as it may sound, a football program can't live off history. It must, at the present, work for the future. And that's what the Tigers are now doing.

"We started with our weight program last week. It's a combination of weights and agility. We feel it's very essential to a successful high school football program," Hina said.

"It's not where a kid has to practice, though we strongly encourage him to. But first of all, we like to see our football players participate in the other sports and if they aren't, then we like to work in the weightagility program.

"Right now, we have 25 young men who will be sophomores next year and they are working in the seventh period weight-agility program already," added the WKC Class A Coach of the Year.

Actual spring practice will begin in early March and will be over sometime shortly before baseball and track begins in order to give football players a chance to participate in other sports.

How much does the championship mean in building a team for this coming season? "It's really too early to tell how good we're gonna be for next year," Hina said.

"But as far as the state championship goes, at this point, it's just a precious memory."

"There's a lot of pride in it. For instance, right now we're talking about a turnout for spring practice of about 80 people. It's kind of like the band, where they go to the Orange Bowl and get a lot of recognition and it spurs other people to join the band."

"It's the same thing with us. I think the pride can go a long way in helping us build a strong program. A successful program draws other people into it."

It will be impossible for Murray High to win the Class A title again.

And that's because of a realignment of the schools by the Kentucky High School Association.

Next season, the Tigers will move into Class AA and already it's causing problems for Hina.

But first, here's a breakdown of area schools:

District One Class AA schools include Caldwell County,

Mayfield, Murray, Reidland, Todd Central, Trigg County and Webster County.

District One Class A schools are Crittenden County, Fort Campbell, Fulton City, Fulton County, Heath, Russellville, McLean County and Ballard Memorial.

The problem? Because they are Class A schools, the Tigers will no longer be playing such strong rivals as Fort Campbell, Russellville and Heath.

And now, with the tentative schedule completed for next season, Hina finds himself in the spot of having only nine games.

"We have an open date on October 31, we certainly don't want it and I'm hunting all over to try and find a team to fill the spot with."

Who will the Tigers play? New teams on the schedule include Todd Central and Henry County, the latter is a renewal of a great rivalry that will be renewed for the first time in four years.

"It's unlikely we can get anymore schools in Tennessee on our schedule," Hina said.

"It's put us in a bind because we just can't find anyone else to fill the open date with."

Hina said he would like to try and schedule a game with either Madisonville or Union County.

Two Class AAA schools will be on the Tiger schedule. They are Hopkinsville and Marshall County.

Marshall County should be a 4-A school but since they are a new school, they will be allowed to compete in 3-A for two years.

The basis for deciding the class system is enrollment. Those schools with an enrollment of 450 or less go into Class A, from 451-750 go into AA, from 751-999 3A and from a thousand and over go into 4-A.

"It will take time but the new classification system will definitely develop some real fine football. But it will be a while before rivalries are developed in each class."

One rivalry that will be enlarged even more now is the annual Murray-Mayfield battle, since both schools are now in the same class.

"A lot of people might think that I'm disappointed because Mayfield's in our class now. But I'm not."

"It will add more incentive to our game and now it will mean everything. I may be wrong, but I'm really glad that it'll be a District game when we play them from now on," Hina said.

The Tigers will open their football season September 5 at Reidland. Then on the 12th, will open the home play against Henry County.

The remainder of the schedule is September 19 at Mayfield; September 26 home against Fulton City; October 3 at Caldwell County; October 10 at home against Trigg County; October 17 at Marshall County; October 24 at home against Hopkinsville; October 31 open date and November 7 at home against Todd Central.

Crusaders trimmed the Winnipeg Jets 3-2, the Minnesota Fighting Saints tripped the Edmonton Oilers 4-2, the Phoenix Roadrunners bombed San Diego 9-2 and the Vancouver Blazers topped the Chicago Cougars 4-2.

Andre Hinse, Mark Howe and Murray Hall scored in the first period for the Aeros and third-period goals by Don Larway and Hughes gave Houston a 5-0 lead before the Toros scored.

Crusaders 3, Jets 2
Al McDonough and Ron Ward scored goals 36 seconds apart in the third period and the Crusaders stifled Bobby Hull's high-scoring line with close checking to give Cleveland the victory.

Fighting Saints 4, Oilers 2
Mike Walton scored his 31st goal of the season and added two assists to lead Minnesota past Vancouver.

Roadrunners 9, Mariners 2
Rob Ftorek and Dennis Sobchuk scored twice while Cam Connor, Jim Niekamp, Michel Cormier, Jim Boyd and John Migneault had single goals to help Phoenix overpower San Diego.

Blazers 4, Cougars 2
Danny Lawson scored the game-winning goal and set up the insurance tally that cemented Vancouver's triumph over Chicago.

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — Steve "Flip" Martin, a punter-placer-kicker for Murray State University, said Wednesday he's been offered a three-year contract by the New England Patriots and that he intends to sign at the end of Murray's track season. He is a high jumper.

This past season, Martin hit on 17 of 18 extra points and 10 of 18 field goals for 47 points and averaged 42.5 yards punting.

Flip Martin To Sign Grid Pact With 'Pats

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Don't be surprised if some day you are watching the National Football League Game of the Week and hear the following:

"And the handoff goes to Don Clayton, he dances around two would-be tacklers and is brought down for a gain of eight, just short of the first down. That's 100 yards for Clayton, a product of Murray State University."

"And now with a timeout on the field, it's the Dolphins seven and Murray State, er, I mean, the New England Patriots seven."

Far-fetched? Not hardly.

Clayton was drafted last week by the Patriots and Martin, a senior placekicker and punter from Indianapolis, has been offered a three-year contract by the Pats.

"They didn't draft me because they told me they would sign me later as a free agent," Martin said.

"I'm really glad to go to the Patriots because it will mean Clayton and I can play together and I think it will help both of us."

Martin, whose career at Murray State has been one of versatility, will not sign the contract until the end of track season.

Besides being one of the top college punters in the nation, Martin is also one of the top high jumpers in the Ohio Valley Conference.

And quite-by accident, it's through track that Martin wound up playing football.

Martin first came to Murray on a golf scholarship, gave up the sport and turned cheerleader. Yes, cheerleader. He actually stood on the sidelines at football games a few years ago and led the yells, not knowing that someday he'd be out there himself.

After he finished cheerleading, Martin became interested in gymnastics and it was there he learned of his ability of high jumping.

One day while he was in track practice, a football bounced over his way.

Martin reached down, nonchalantly picked up the ball and booted it out of sight.

Murray State football coach Bill Ferguson went after him that very second and Flip Martin suddenly found himself in a football uniform.

This year, one in which the Racers finished with their best record since 1951, (9-2), Martin averaged 42.5 yards per punt, hit 17 of 18 PAT's and kicked 10 of 18 field goal attempts.

Martin said he will have his first orientation camp in early March but it will be sometime in May after the OVC Track and Field Championships before he inks the pact with the 'Pats.

Flip Martin

State University.

"And now it's Flip Martin coming in to punt. The ball sails out of the endzone for a touch-back. That was a 44-yard punt for Martin, also a product of Murray State."

"And now with a timeout on the field, it's the Dolphins seven and Murray State, er, I mean, the New England Patriots seven."

Far-fetched? Not hardly.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — University of Tennessee basketball star Bernard King was restored to active status with the Vols Wednesday after the university rechecked his high school and junior high school records.

King had been withheld from competition Monday when the university received reports of discrepancies in his transcripts at Ft. Hamilton High, Brooklyn, N.Y.

The freshman standout did not play in Tennessee's 62-59 loss Monday night to Southeastern Conference rival Auburn.

Dr. Earl Ramer, athletic faculty chairman, said King was restored after Athletic Director Bob Woodruff and two other university officials reexamined King's high school records Wednesday.

Ramer said the university was convinced by the examination that King was eligible to play under National Collegiate Athletic Association and SEC rules.

"Mr. Woodruff and I have authorized his continued participation in basketball, including practice this afternoon," Ramer said Wednesday.

Ramer said the NCAA and the SEC had been notified of the university's decision.

The NCAA, meanwhile, indicated this week that it had been checking King's junior high school grades after receiving reports of possible alterations of his grades.

King was the leading scorer in the SEC with a 27.9 average before Monday's game. His reactivation means he will be in the lineup when Tennessee meets seventh-ranked Alabama in Knoxville on Saturday.

In New York, August Rizzuto, acting principal of Fort Hamilton High, said several errors were found in King's records.

"There were both human errors and some alterations of grades," Rizzuto said. "There were legitimate errors that we rectified."

"We checked all the records again. We checked with the teachers that taught Bernard here where there was a question with the grade."

"Last year Bernard went to both day and night school and we even verified his night grades."

Canadiens Win Wild 8-5 Contest Over Red Wings

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

It took a while for Steve Shutt to reach the 20-goal plateau this season, the main reasons being his "Doughnut Line" mates Guy Lafleur and Pete Mahovlich.

The hulking Mahovlich tagged the trio with the odd nickname because they don't have a center—although the 6-foot-5 Mahovlich usually plays that position ably.

Anyway, Lafleur continued his scoring rampage with his 41st goal of the season and three assists Wednesday night while Mahovlich added his 26th.

But it took two by Shutt to reach the 20-mark and spark the Canadiens' 8-5 triumph over the Detroit Red Wings in National Hockey League play.

Flyers 4, Rangers 3
Second-period power play goals by Ross Lonsberry and Rick MacLeish gave Philadelphia a 4-1 lead New York never overcame.

Bruins 3, Flames 3
Surprise, surprise. Bobby Orr scored a goal for the Bruins. Thirty seconds later Carol Vadnais scored a goal for the Bruins, and what had been a 3-1 Atlanta lead was a 3-3 tie.

Black Hawks 2, North Stars 1
Jim Pappin converted Darcy Rota's pass early in the third period to help Chicago drop Minnesota.

Penguins 3, Kings 2
Chuck Arnason scored two of Pittsburgh's three second-period goals which led Pittsburgh to a comeback 3-2 victory and handed Los Angeles its second consecutive loss.

Golden Seals 5, Capitals 1
John Stewart and Dave Gardner scored twice to help the Seals break a four-game losing string.

Free Agent
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Rusty Chambers, a 6-foot-2, 215-pound linebacker from Tulane, has been signed to a free agent contract by the New Orleans Saints.

Chambers, who was not signed in the recent NFL player draft, was the Saints' first free agent signed for 1975. As a Green Wave senior, Chambers accounted for 68 unassisted tackles and 59 assists.

Run-And-Gun Celtics Slowed Down But Still Whip Bucks

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Boston's running Celtics were slowed down Wednesday night, but they still managed to post their 11th consecutive National Basketball Association triumph.

"We did everything except run," Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn said. "We were just standing around, especially in the second half. And that's not our style."

The Celtics blew a 12-point second period advantage, but the Bucks had their own problems.

"They don't have real cohesion," Heinsohn said of Milwaukee. "They don't have anyone to replace Oscar... But that's their problem. I've got my own."

The victory tied Buffalo for the longest winning streak in the NBA this season. And, it gave the Celtics a 37-14 record, best in the league.

With center Dave Cowens scoring 17 of his 23 points in the opening half, the Celtics held a 56-47 advantage at halftime. Then Kareem Abdul-Jabbar found the range, hitting 19 of his 29 points in the final two periods.

After Cowens' 20-foot jumper with 32 seconds left made it 92-88, Abdul-Jabbar retaliated with a hook shot seven seconds later. The Bucks' center then blocked JoJo White's layup attempt and the Bucks had the ball and a chance to tie the game.

Some Taxpayers Are Too Eager To Get Tax Rebate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says people appear more eager than usual to get tax refunds. In fact, some people are a little too eager.

They want President Ford's proposed tax rebate now.

The rebate is only proposed so far, of course. Although Congress and the White House agree generally that some tax benefit is needed to prod the economy, they must resolve their differences and write any rebate into law before the government can dispense the money.

But some taxpayers have apparently taken all the talk about rebates going on in Washington to mean they're entitled to get 12 per cent of their tax back now. In figuring up their tax bill for refund, some early filers have computed in the proposed rebate, the IRS says.

An IRS spokesman said the number of cases are "of quite minor proportions" so far. The only thing citizens get for their trouble in computing the 12 per cent is a letter from the government accompanied by either a notice of additional tax due or a smaller refund check than they had counted on.

Other than that snag, the early returns in the annual tax derby have been brisk. Officials haven't decided yet whether that's because the IRS promised to get early refunds out faster.

But the Treasury Department, which writes the government's checks, reported individual tax refunds of $77 million for the month of January, compared to $45.3 million in the same month last year.

That's a 70 per cent increase but still only a drop in the bucket compared to the billions of refunds paid out later in the tax season.

The IRS reported refunds so far are averaging $363.98, up from last year's $339.38. And the number of returns received with a week to go in January was 2,645,000 — again up from 2,494,000 in the same period last year.

But despite heavier early returns, IRS said it's sticking by its original estimate that the waiting time for refunds will increase from four or five weeks now to eight weeks or more as the April 15 deadline approaches.

Unemployment Rate— What Does It Mean?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The January unemployment rate, to be reported Friday by the Labor Department, is expected to surpass the 7.5 per cent peak of the 1967-68 recession.

But unlike in the Great Depression of the 1930s, the jobless have unemployment benefits, welfare programs and food stamps to fall back on.

Just what do the monthly unemployment statistics mean? How are they gathered? How accurately do they measure the problems of joblessness and lost wages and purchasing power?

In a series of questions and answers based on the methods and contents of the government surveys, here is the background for those monthly news reports.

Q. The government reported in December that 7.1 per cent of people in the labor force were out of work. How many people are actually out of work?

A. With a civilian labor force of 91.7 million, a jobless rate of 7.1 per cent means that 6.5 million people were out of work, or about one of every 14 workers. At the height of the Great Depression, one of every four workers was unable to find a job.

In 1933 the unemployment rate hit 25 per cent with nearly 13 million out of work. The work force was much smaller then, totaling about 52 million.

Q. How does the government determine who is employed and who isn't?

A. Every civilian 16 years old or over, who is not in an institution such as a prison or mental hospital, is classified as either employed, unemployed, or not in the labor force. People with jobs are employed; people who are jobless, are looking for jobs, and are available for work are unemployed.

Q. Who's being hurt most by rising unemployment?

A. Nearly every industry is being affected by the recession, but particularly hard-hit are the automobile, construction and textile industries. Allied industries which supply them also are affected severely. In terms of numbers, adult men and blue-collar workers suffer most because they account for the largest percentages of the labor force. In terms of unemployment rates, women and teen-agers have the highest.

In December, the jobless rate for married men, generally regarded as family breadwinners, was 3.7 per cent; for adult women, the rate was 7.2 per cent; and teen-agers, 18.3 per cent.

Q. Even though the nation's over-all unemployment rate will eclipse the 1967-68 recession, the rate for married men still is substantially lower than in past recessions. Doesn't that indicate less hardship for most families in the current recession?

A. Not necessarily. The composition of the nation's work force has changed dramatically since the 1960s. The postwar baby boom has pumped millions of teen-agers into the job market and more women are working. At the same time, the proportion of older men in the work force has declined, partly as a result of early retirement plans and partly because of the changing mix in the work population.

Q. Doesn't recession mean that consumer prices are declining? And if that's so, wouldn't that ease the impact of unemployment?

A. That was the case during the Great Depression and past recessions, but it isn't that way now. Despite the economic slump, consumer prices rose 12.2 per cent in 1974, and are expected to rise almost that much this year. In the 1930s, consumer prices dropped 27 per cent.

Q. Don't today's unemployed have various benefits to sustain them, thus easing the impact on the economy?

A. Yes. Congress recently extended unemployment benefits from a maximum duration of 39 weeks to one year and widened coverage from 65 million workers to 87 million, almost the entire work force. However, the average weekly unemployment check is $61, about $27 a week less than what is needed to reach the $4,596 annual income the government says is necessary to maintain an above-poverty-level standard of living for a family of four.

In addition to unemployment compensation, food stamps and welfare benefits also are available. In a few industries, notably autos, labor-management contracts provide Supplemental Unemployment Benefits, guaranteeing laid-off workers 96 per cent of their weekly take-home pay. However, United Auto Workers officials say these benefits will start running out at Chrysler in March and at General Motors in May or June if current levels of unemployment persist in the industry.

Q. In measuring unemployment, shouldn't greater emphasis be placed on the breadwinner who is the sole support of the family?

A. The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, which prepares the monthly job report, says that is a value judgment which is not its role.

"The unemployment rate is a measure of the economic wellbeing of the country, not of individual hardship," says John Bregger of the bureau. "Women and teen-agers are part of the work force and eliminating them from the statistics won't make the problem go away."

Q. How are the statistics gathered each month?

A. The survey is taken by the Bureau of Census which selects a sample of one in every 1,500 households in the country, or about 58,000 total. Each household is the site of an interview for four consecutive months. Then it goes on an inactive list for eight months and comes back for four more months of interviews before disappearing altogether. This way 75 per cent of the households in the survey were in the previous month's sample, and the remainder are new each month.

Vacancies and other reasons reduce the active sample each month to about 47,000 households, with about 100,000 members over the age of 16. Interviewers, mostly women, ask standard questions to establish whether these persons are working full or part time, looking for work, etc.

Q. How accurate is the survey?

A. The size of the sample is larger than any used for television ratings or national public opinion polls. Most independent statisticians accept as valid the government's claim that the margin of error is not more than two-tenths of 1 per cent.

Q. What is seasonal adjustment?

A. Employment and unemployment change during the year as a result of holidays, vacations, harvest time, changing seasons, shifts in production schedules and other occurrences. Seasonal adjustment is used to determine whether developments between any two months reflect changing economic conditions or are merely normal seasonal fluctuations. For example, the unadjusted rate is 10 to 20 per cent higher in February and 10 to 20 per cent lower in May than the annual average. After seasonal adjustment, only changes in the underlying employment situation will change the rate.

Are the figures released each month always seasonally adjusted?

A. Yes.

Mini Job Boom At Unemployment Offices

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The rising unemployment rate has created a mini job boom at state unemployment offices. An Associated Press sampling shows officials in every area are hiring extra workers to deal with the long lines of jobless Americans seeking unemployment benefits.

"We've enlarged the staff because we have a lot heavier workload ... and because the federal government has introduced two new (public service job) programs that we have to handle," said Raymond Hope, director of unemployment insurance for Colorado.

Hope said the staff handling benefits at the state's 33 unemployment offices has been doubled from 200 to 400 since the end of December.

Terry Wiley, assistant manager of the unemployment office in Minneapolis, said he did not know exactly how many people had been added. "Personnel changes so fast and we've hired so many more that I don't really know how many people work here now," he said.

However, Wiley estimated there had been a 50 per cent increase in the number of employees at all of the unemployment offices in the Twin Cities area.

Boston has boosted the staff at its three unemployment offices from 80 to 150 since September; the number of employees at the two Birmingham, Ala., offices has grown from 25 to 43 since November; the Louisville, Ky., unemployment staff has increased from 17 to 51 since the middle of last October.

The Labor Department reported that 851,700 Americans filed new claims for unemployment insurance in the week ended Jan. 18, nearly double the number filing in the same week a year earlier. Some 4,561,300 Americans already were receiving jobless benefits.

The department has said that federal, state and local governments will spend about $1 billion this year to aid the unemployed through public jobs projects and benefit programs. Some states say their benefit funds will run out of money if the unemployment rate, which stood at 7.1 per cent in December, does not decrease.

The New York State Labor Department has 20 principal unemployment offices in New York City and opened six supplementary offices last month. Two more offices are in the planning stages. A department spokesman said that in the week ended Jan. 31 there were 1,334 persons employed in the 26 offices and he said that about 400 had been hired recently to deal with the increased number of applicants.

The Cheyenne, Wyo., unemployment office, which had one full-time employee a year ago, has tripled its staff to three and Harold Bolger, head of unemployment insurance for the state's Employment Security Commission, said that "because of budget reductions, we haven't been able to add staff at the rate we feel necessary."

The largest of the five unemployment offices in Phoenix, Ariz., had 14 workers a year ago. Now it has 61, some of whom work on an hourly basis during rush periods only. The office also extended its hours and now is open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. in contrast to the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. schedule it used to keep.

Schlesinger Warns Congress Of $148 Billion Defense Budget In 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, defending the Pentagon's record $92.8 billion budget, has told Congress to prepare for annual increases to $148 billion in 1980.

"The United States is inescapably the leader of the non-Communist world," Schlesinger told the Senate Armed Services Committee on Wednesday. "There is no other country to fulfill our role if we abandon it."

Russia has been increasing military expenditures, while the United States' budget share allocated to defense has been reduced, he said.

The expenditures proposed for next year, when inflation and military pay costs are discounted, will buy only the same amount of goods and services as this year's $83.8 billion budget, the Pentagon chief said. He said the trend should be to increase goods and services for defense.

Schlesinger's appraisal was supported by Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Brown said the strategic balance is "in dynamic equilibrium," with the Soviet numerical edge offset by U.S. qualitative advantage.

"The USSR, however, has embarked upon a massive program of major strategic force improvements and deployments which, if not constrained by the negotiating process or balanced by major U.S. arms initiatives, will result in serious superiority over the United States in the years ahead."

The United States and its allies can today meet any foreseeable provocation, but "our present strength is not so sufficient that we can be complacent," Brown said.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said the committee will try to find where reductions can be made.

But he said he recognized "there is just no bargain basement price on assured superior strength to protect ourselves and do our part in protecting the free world."

Film Industry Leaders Are Confident Of Movie Prosperity

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Can the movie industry continue to defy the nation's economy and maintain prosperity in 1975? Film leaders are confident, and they point to the list of attractions for the coming year.

While many other industries were hurting in 1974, motion pictures made a startling comeback.

Daily Variety reports that America's film theaters did their best business since the postwar boom of 1946. Income is estimated to have reached as high as $1.675 billion, an 18 per cent jump over 1973.

Several reasons have been offered: the search for escape in troubled times, the need of neighborhood entertainment during the gas shortage, disenchantment with television.

Perhaps the soundest reason for the box-office upswing was the appearance of appealing attractions, starting off the year with "The Sting," "The Exorcist" and "Papillon" and ending with "The Towering Inferno," "Earthquake," "The Godfather, Part II," "Young Frankenstein," "Lenny," and "The Man with the Golden Gun."

The latter films are carrying their big grosses into the new year. They will be joined during 1975 by a new crop of hopefuls. Among them: "The Great Waldo Pepper" — Robert Redford barnstorming early airplanes in another film with George Roy Hill, who directed "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" and "The Sting."

"Funny Lady" — Barbra Streisand as a more mature Fanny Brice with Omar Sharif back as her first husband and James Caan as her second, Billy Rose.

"The French Connection II" — Gene Hackman back as Popeye Doyle chasing drug dealers in France.

"Barry Lyndon" — Ryan O'Neal and Marisa Berenson in a William Makepeace Thackeray yarn, Stanley Kubrick's first film since "A Clockwork Orange."

"At Long Last Love" — Peter Bogdanovich's attempt to capture the 1930s musical magic, with score by Cole Porter. "Rollerball" — James Caan and John Houseman in Norman Jewison's look at a terrifying sport of the future.

"One of Our Dinosaurs Is Missing" — Disney spy spoofery in the 1930s with Helen Hayes and Peter Ustinov. "Shampoo" — Life of a Hollywood hairdresser with Warren Beatty, Goldie Hawn and Julie Christie.

"Day of the Locust" — An acerbic view of Hollywood in the 1930s by John Schlesinger ("Midnight Cowboy," "Sunday Bloody Sunday").

"Jaws" — The hazards of offshore swimming, with Robert Shaw and Roy Scheider.

"Once Is Not Enough" — Kirk Douglas as the hero (?) of Jacqueline Susann's steamy novel.

DHR Receives Two Applications From Purchase Groups

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Kentucky Department for Human Resources (DHR) has received from Purchase Region organizations two applications which, because of their estimated costs, come under the jurisdiction of Section 1122 of the Social Security Act. This segment of the law applies to capital expenditures by health care facilities which, if not justified by increased services or efficiency, could result in unreasonable increases in costs to patients.

The Piper's Center Care Home, LaCenter, Ky., has submitted a proposal to add 40 intermediate-care beds to the existing facility. The Superior Care Home, Inc., Paducah, proposes to change three intermediate-care, temporary beds to three, permanent, intermediate-care beds. Costs for these projects have not been determined.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council will review these proposals at Lexington on Feb. 11-12. The reviews are open to the public.

Heroin abuse is increasing

Serious heroin abuse and addiction are increasing rapidly, according to the National Council on Drug Abuse Director Dr. Jordan Scher who says current statistics show there are at least 600,000 to 800,000 heroin addicts in the United States — and the number is rising.

Current supplies from the Far East, Middle East and Mexico are higher in quality and much more potent — 15 per cent pure, compared to an average of 1 to 5 per cent pure a year earlier — leading to higher overdose rates. — CNS

Starling Problem

by Dr. Clell Peterson
Professor of English
College of Humanistic Studies

This is the first of a series of articles by members of the Murray State University faculty written in the interest of a stable, clear and healthy environment. The articles will be written with the firm belief that many of our nation's environmental problems today could be solved if the people were made more aware of their basic, underlying causes. It also is hoped that many of our readers will submit questions and comments on related subjects which they would like to have answered or discussed by the Murray State faculty.

— The Editor

Environmental blunders have frequently been the result of innocent but misguided good intentions. Thus we learn that small events may have long-lived consequences that are often disastrous and irreversible. One kind of miscalculation concerns importing alien forms of life into a new area, and a classic instance is the remarkable success of the Starling.

This nightmare version of the typical American success story began in 1870 when an admirer of Shakespeare got the idea of importing all of the birds mentioned in his works into the new world. In 1870 he obtained and released 80 Starlings in New York's Central Park. They didn't do well, and the following year he released 40 more.

For a time they were mere objects of curiosity in Central Park; then they began to spread. Their distribution snowballed, and a hundred years later they are in all fifty of the United States and adjacent Canada and Mexico. Their numbers add up to uncountable millions in the continental United States alone.

An obvious question is why a bird that is not a particular nuisance in its original range — and was, in fact, favored as a cage bird for its intelligence and gifts of mimicry — has become a major pest in this country.

Like other migrants to the new world, the Starling succeeded by aggressiveness, diligence, hard work, and a healthy reproductive rate. In the balance of nature every species tends to find its own niche and to succeed in a slot determined by food supply and breeding habitat. It is checked there by other species competing for similar foods and breeding sites.

In the new world the Starling found niches newly created by human settlers who had at the same time disrupted the habitats of native species. Always an opportunist, the Starling exploited this situation. Meanwhile, continuing environmental disruptions created new areas to occupy. The parallel decline of certain native species — to which the Starling in turn contributed — increased the Starling's opportunities. A cavity nesting species, Starlings evict woodpeckers from their freshly cut holes and drive Bluebirds and even Wood Ducks from boxes and hollow trees.

The Starling is not a fussy feeder. It eats almost anything, and in summer insects make up about 90 percent of its diet. At one time it was highly regarded as a control agent for the Japanese beetle. More recently, however, in company with Grackles and other pest birds, it has turned up in winter at feed lots where its consumption of feed grains causes farmers serious loss and adds to the threat of world famine.

Although Starlings disperse during the breeding season, they begin flocking by midsummer. Winter roosts of up to ten million birds have been estimated. Attempts to control these huge flocks usually fail. Recording and playing back the birds' distress notes has sometimes worked. Painting the branches of roosting trees with a permanently sticky "glue" causes flocks to change roosting sites. A more recent

Get More And Better Feed From Grass Fields Through Renovation

More and better feed from your pasture and grass hay fields with no investment in expensive nitrogen fertilizer? That's what you can expect if you renovate your grass fields this year, according to J. Kenneth Evans, Extension forage specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Renovation involves seeding legumes such as clover or alfalfa into grass fields without plowing. Legumes increase total feed production, says Evans, because much of their growth takes place during the hot summer months when the growth of grasses such as tall fescue and bluegrass is slowing down. And legumes increase pasture quality because they tend to be higher in protein than grasses and to have greater palatability and digestibility, especially during hot summer weather.

The greater production and better quality of grass-legume pastures show up in animal performance, says Evans. He points out that many experiments have shown that animals perform better on grass-legume pastures than on straight grass pastures.

Perhaps the greatest advantage of legumes is their unique ability to take nitrogen from the air and "fix" it, or make it available for plant growth and protein formation. Legumes can be inoculated at seeding time with a culture of bacteria, and the bacteria take nitrogen from the air, change it to a form that plants can use, and supply it to the legumes. As the legume roots die and decompose in the soil, nitrogen is also made available to the grass plants.

Research has shown that alfalfa can fix as much as 225 pounds of nitrogen per acre in Kentucky. This is about $60 worth of nitrogen at current fertilizer prices. Red clover will fix up to 175 pounds of nitrogen per acre per year, or between $40 and $50 worth. Korean lespedeza, vetch and other annual legumes may fix up to 100 pounds per year, or $25-$30 worth.

It should be kept in mind, says Evans, that these amounts of nitrogen are not left in the field if the legumes are grazed or harvested as hay. Much of the nitrogen which is fixed is used by the legume plants, and when the legumes are harvested, the nitrogen they have used for growth is removed from the field.

Evans recommends close grazing or mowing of pastures before renovation. This will make tillage easier and will weaken the grass, making it easier for the legume to become established.

You should also test the soil of fields you plan to renovate and apply needed lime, phosphate, and potash. Do not apply any nitrogen.

The tillage needed for renovation can be accomplished with a disk, field cultivator, or field tiller. Tear up 40-60 percent of the grass cover if you plan to seed clover and 80-100 percent if you plan to seed alfalfa. This tillage opens the sod so that the legumes will have a better chance to germinate and thrive. The tillage can be done anytime from late fall up to seeding time when the ground is dry enough to work.

The seeding of renovated pastures can begin in late February in central, southern, and western Kentucky, according to Evans. It may be better to wait until March in northern and eastern Kentucky, but seeding should be completed before April 15. Recommended seeding rates are 12-20 pounds per acre for alfalfa, 8-12 pounds per acre for red clover, and 1-3 pounds per acre for white clover. Be sure to inoculate the seed.

After seeding, renovated fields should be grazed short until the livestock begin biting off the young legume plants. Then the cattle should be removed. Pastures seeded with clover should be left four to six weeks and those seeded with alfalfa should be left for eight to ten weeks. After that, the field can be grazed or hay can be harvested.

A publication entitled "Renovating Grass Fields," AGR-26, is available from your local County Extension Office.

Army Deserter Feels Forgotten In Conditional Amnesty Program

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When Army deserter Gary Scott entered the conditional amnesty program four months ago, he had hope. Now, he says he feels forgotten.

Forgotten by employers who would rather not hire men like Scott, with undesirable discharges on their military records.

Forgotten by President Ford, who promised last September that the amnesty program would provide deserters and draft evaders "with a way of resolving the dilemmas of the past."

The crux of the problem is that Scott still hasn't been assigned a job that qualifies as alternative service under amnesty program guidelines.

"I've tried," said the 26-year-old native of Harlan, now living in Jefferson County with his wife and two children.

"I've looked hard for a job for this boy," said Col. Taylor Davidson, director of the Kentucky Selective Service office in Frankfort.

"The trouble is there are only a certain number of jobs and invariably they're the low-paying ones," Davidson explained.

To qualify as alternative service, a job must be public-service oriented, must be with a nonprofit organization and must not interfere with the competitive job market.

Of 82 Kentuckians who joined the amnesty program, only 10 have been assigned to qualified jobs. Five are in the process of getting such jobs and 36 are in the same situation as Scott.

Another 31 have declined, for one reason or another, to accept alternative service, Davidson said. They will retain their undesirable discharges but Davidson doubted any further action will be taken against them.

After Scott completes his 18 months of alternative service, his discharge will be changed to a special clemency classification.

He's now working as a motel maintenance man for $2.75 an hour.

Scott's troubles began in December 1972 when he illegally left Ft. Meade, Md. At that time, he already had served four years and 11 months and was a sergeant. He had just been assigned to Korea when he went AWOL.

Scott said he did so for personal reasons — "marital problems and the Army didn't want to help me cope with them."

Scott's wife left for Germany and he took off for Harlan County instead of Korea.

He worked at different jobs but said it was "nerve-racking" wondering when the Army would catch up with him. Eventually he moved to Louisville where he heard about the amnesty program last September.

Corps Projects Funded By $47,000,000 In Ford Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his proposed budget, President Ford set aside $47,028,000 for Army Corps of Engineers' projects in Kentucky during fiscal 1976.

He also asked Congress for $16,155,000 Monday to cover the 1976 transition quarter. This quarter will run from July 1 to Oct. 1, when the government changes the start of its fiscal year.

Funds sought for construction (all projects listed are for flood control except Laurel River and Wolfe Creek, which are multiple purpose projects):

Carr Fork Lake, $5.9 million; Cave Run Lake, $3.9 million, plus $750,000 in transition funds; Frankfort, $200,000; Laurel River Lake, $4.7 million, plus $644,000 transition funds; Martin, $600,000, plus $350,000 transition funds; Martins Fork

Lake, $2.9 million, plus $1.24 million transition funds; Paintsville Lake, $1.3 million, plus $750,000 transition funds and $250,000 in carryover 1975 funds; Red River Lake, $1 million, plus $527,000 transition funds and $150,000 in carryover funds; Southwestern Jefferson County flood control project, $1.68 million, plus $1.42 million transition funds; Taylorsville Lake, $4.57 million, plus $2.46 million transition funds and $250,000 in carryover funds; Wolfe Creek Dam at Lake Cumberland, $6 million, plus $3.8 million transition funds; Yatesville Lake, $1.4 million, plus $800,000 transition funds and $300,000 in carryover funds.

For operation and maintenance (all projects are flood control unless otherwise specified):

Barkley Dam, multiple purpose, $2.2 million, plus $675,000 transition funds; Barren River Lake, $427,000, plus $145,000 transition funds; Buckhorn Lake, $299,000, plus $81,000 transition funds; Carr Fork Lake, $284,000, plus $74,000 transition funds; Cave Run Lake, $199,000, plus $57,000 transition funds; Dewey Lake, $536,000, plus $175,000 transition funds; Fishtrap Lake, $684,000, plus $166,000 transition funds; Grayson Lake, $329,000, plus $77,000 transition funds; Green and Barren rivers, navigation, $745,000, plus $161,000 transition funds; Green River Lake, $799,000, plus $167,000 transition funds; Hickman Harbor, $70,000 transition funds; Kentucky River, navigation, $1,529 million, plus $436,000 transition funds; Middlesboro, $167,000, plus $10,000 transition funds; Nolichucky River, $160,000 transition funds; Rough River Lake, $724,000, plus $150,000 transition funds; Wolfe Creek Dam, multiple purpose, $2.7 million, plus $625,000 transition funds.

For general investigation (flood control unless otherwise designated):

Lower Cumberland navigation project, $100,000; Metropolitan Lexington flood control, $250,000; Upper Cumberland River Basin, $50,000.

For advance engineering (flood control unless otherwise designated):

Big South Fork National River and Recreation Area, $350,000; Booneville Lake, $209,000; Camp Ground Lake, $190,000; Dayton, $105,000; Tug Fork Valley, $200,000.

Common Cause To Turn Aim To The Presidency

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Common Cause, the citizens group which played a large role in overhauling Congress, is turning its aim toward the White House and the executive branch for its next reform efforts.

"The congressional reform agenda is just about completed, and we're going to turn to the executive branch very strongly," Common Cause Chairman John W. Gardner said in an interview.

Gardner says the campaign will not try to weaken the presidency but is based on the recognition that modern times demand a strong chief executive, who must be held accountable because of his power.

"The whole executive branch is seriously in need of attention," Gardner said. "This includes not only the presidency, but regulatory agencies, the whole issue of waste in government, the whole question of awarding grants and contracts, the way our tax money flows through the executive branch and is influenced by lobbying."

A two-pronged Common Cause attack will monitor the functions of the executive branch and publicize the organization's findings and secondly, examine the method in which presidents are elected.

The presidential selection study is still in the preliminary stage, but Common Cause is looking into possible reform of the electoral college, the nominating process including the growth of primaries, the length of presidential terms, vice presidential selection and low voter participation.

"We are going to call in people we regard as experts from around the country to discuss these questions," Gardner said. "We probably will select from that list one or two things that we want to try to change."

The monitoring project actually began last year with a watchdog effort over the Federal Energy Administration. This year it will be extended to the Environmental Protection Agency, the Bureau of Land Management and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Monitors now in training will attend public meetings and other functions of these agencies to blow the whistle on any questionable activity they find.

Gardner says the tactics are essentially the same as those which brought such congressional reform as curbing of secret committee meetings, recorded votes and the fall of the seniority system.

Common Cause focused on Congress beginning in 1971. Gardner indicated the organization would continue to monitor Congress.

TVA Reveals Statistics On Electricity

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority reported today home consumers paid an average of 1.52 cents a kilowatt-hour for TVA electricity in 1974, an increase of 22 of a cent over 1973.

The national residential rate increased by .45 of a cent to about 2.83 cents a kilowatt-hour, TVA said.

Both TVA and private utilities have cited sharply higher prices for coal and oil as the main factor in increased costs of electricity.

TVA boosted its residential power rates an average of 16 per cent during the year. Another rate boost of about 13 per cent went into effect in January.

The 1.56-cent average residential rate in 1974 was about the same as the average for home electric service in TVA's power service area 25 years ago, the agency said.

This average had dropped gradually over a long period, primarily because of increasing use and more efficient distribution of electricity.

But increased costs of power production in recent years forced TVA to revise its rate schedules upward, the agency said.

Average residential use of electricity in the Tennessee Valley in 1974 was 14,330-kwh per house, a drop of 760-kwh below the level of 1973.

More than 2.1 million homes are served with TVA power by 160 municipal and cooperative systems in Tennessee and parts of Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky.

The Environmental Protection Agency approved Forest Service use of DDT to spray nearly 430,000 tussock moth-infested acres in Oregon, Washington and Idaho last year.

Although the outbreak was described as the most damaging on record in the Northwest, the suppression effort resulted in an over-all average moth mortality of 96 per cent in the DDT-treated area.

Congress...

"First key vote we will have as members of the party of the President of the United States." Democrats sought to delay the tariff to give them time to come up with their own energy-conservation program. The fate of the tariff repeal in the Senate appeared in some doubt, despite Long's pledge of quick action, because tariff supporters there are threatening to filibuster. Asked about the setback on the tariff bill, a White House spokesman said Ford "was encouraged by the size of the vote and he felt that he had come a long way since he began his meetings with members of Congress. He plans other meetings with members of Congress to continue the explanation of his program."

Ford has been meeting with congressmen in groups of 100 to urge support for administration proposals. The bar to higher food stamp prices sailed through the Senate 76 to 8 following earlier House approval, 374 to 38. Both margins were more than the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto, although there was no indication Ford would reject the bill. Ford had said the higher prices would save an estimated $648 million. Ford won House approval of a bill increasing the federal debt limit to $531 billion to allow borrowing expected through June 30 as government spending continues to outpace revenues.

TVA Reveals Nuclear Plant Costs Up 56% Over Estimate

COOKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority has confirmed that the estimated cost of building the world's largest nuclear power plant at Hartsville, Tenn., has climbed 56 per cent to $2.5 billion. Lee Sheppard, TVA information director, said Wednesday.

Grand Jury...

kept. In discussing the size of the jail with Mr. Jones, he stated to us that since he kept prisoners for the City of Murray and the City of Hazel, and that the number of prisoners has begun to increase, that it might be necessary in the future to make an addition to the jail. DOG POUND—"We visited the Dog Pound and it appears adequate for the number of dogs that were present at the pound on the day we visited. The pound was clean, free of odors, and the animals appeared healthy and well-fed."

"We do recommend that the Dog Warden advertise publicly the dogs picked up by him so that the owners or persons wishing to have a dog might get them from the Dog Pound during the seven day period they are kept by the Warden. HEALTH CENTER—"We visited the Health Center and although it was in good condition, we find that the Health Center needs more room and more equipment to adequately serve the county. We understand that there are plans to increase the size of the Health Center, and we endorse the project. COURT HOUSE—"We visited the Court House, and with prior Grand Juries in the past, we are pleased with the work that has been done, and we find it to be clean and a credit to our county. COUNTY BARN—"We visited the County Barn and find that it is in quite poor condition. There is equipment setting out of considerable value that should be inside a barn; and the old barn, in addition to being small, is in a poor state of repair. We recommend that the county use revenue sharing funds or some available Federal program, if possible, to erect a new County Barn at a new location where more room will be available for the storing and maintenance of equipment. ADDITIONAL Recommendations—"A problem was brought to our attention concerning the dangers on Industrial Road, and we feel that Industrial Road should be widened so that large trucks may pass other vehicles with safety. It appears to us that the road is simply not wide enough to accommodate the large vehicles that are now traveling on it. "Further, the Grand Jury feels it should commend the county officials and the Fiscal Court for the improvements we find in the facilities such as the Court House and Jail. These gentlemen responsible for the upgrading of the buildings and services deserve and hereby receive our thanks; and the County Attorney and Commonwealth's Attorney, as well as all members of the Bench and Bar, are most deserving of the thanks of the citizens of this county." Respectfully Submitted, J. Matt Sparkman, Foreman Calloway County Grand Jury

Rocket Attack in Phnom Penh Leaves 12 Dead, 45 Injured

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Two Khmer Rouge rockets killed 12 persons and wounded 45 in the heart of Phnom Penh today. Many of the victims were schoolchildren in a crowded classroom. It was the heaviest toll from a rocket attack on the Cambodian capital since the insurgents began an offensive in the Phnom Penh area on New Year's Day. Officials said that since then 553 rockets have been fired into the city and its airport, killing 74 persons and wounding more than 335. One rocket today exploded in a tree shading the Watt Phnom College, a private elementary school for the children of wealthy Chinese and Vietnamese families. The force of the blast sent a lethal shower of jagged metal, pieces of construction material and glass through the classroom beneath the tree. Nine of the 107 children reciting their morning French lesson in unison were killed instantly, and 35 were wounded. All were under 10 years old.

As ambulances raced to hospitals with casualties and back for more, little survivors under 10 ran wildly about, tears streaming down their faces. Blood-covered books were strewn about the classroom. Frightened families rushed to the school. The wail of mothers could be heard above the din. Families of children missing from the school went from hospital to hospital, searching for their little ones. At the Preah Ket Mealea hospital, a Chinese man knelt at the side of his two dead children and sobbed quietly, rocking back and forth on his knees.

Mail Carrier Is Sentenced

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An attorney for a mail carrier convicted of piling up tons of mail in his attic rather than delivering it says he doesn't know the man's reason for committing the crime. "To this day, he really doesn't know the reason why," said Frank E. Haddad Jr., attorney for Frank Sosienki, 55. Sosienki was arrested in November after 12 to 15 tons of mail, some of it dating back to 1967, was found in his Louisville home. He was sentenced in U. S. District Court Tuesday to a year and a day in prison.

Cunningham To Receive Regular Army Commission

Allen Cunningham a ROTC Cadet at Murray State University is to receive a Regular Army Commission upon his graduation in May. Cunningham will become a 2nd Lt. and take his Officer Basic at Ft. Sill Oklahoma. The Murray native is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cunningham of Murray.

A block away from the school, a second rocket landed close to the central market, killing three persons and wounding 10 others. The shell landed in a taxi bus as hundreds ran in panic, reporters on the scene said.

Six other rockets hit the airport, the Cambodian military command reported. But it said there were no casualties or damage.

Military sources reported that another convoy from South Vietnam trying to get past insurgent artillery, rockets and mortars along the Mekong River ran into a string of mines across the river, and three tugs and an ammunition barge were sunk about six miles below the Neak Luong naval base.

The sources said three other barges were forced to turn back to South Vietnam. Each barge was loaded with about 900 tons of badly needed ammunition.

The Khmer Rouge sank eight ships or barges on the Mekong during the weekend, adding to the difficulties of the vital supply traffic up the river.

Bob Waters To Receive Reserve Army Commission

Robert Waters Jr. a ROTC Cadet at Murray State University is to receive a Reserve Officer Commission upon his graduation in May. Waters will become a 2nd Lt. and take his Officer Basic at Ft. Bliss Texas. The Murray native is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waters Sr. of Rt. 4 Murray.
